

Call for Sponsorship – GLSVLSI 2026

ACM Great Lakes Symposium on VLSI (GLSVLSI 2026)

June 22–24, 2026 | Finger Lakes, NY, USA

Overview

The 36th ACM Great Lakes Symposium on VLSI (GLSVLSI 2026) invites industry partners to participate as sponsors of this premier venue for research in VLSI design, systems, and emerging computing technologies.

GLSVLSI brings together leading researchers, engineers, and practitioners from academia and industry to exchange ideas and showcase innovations in integrated circuits, hardware acceleration, system design, and beyond. Sponsorship provides a unique opportunity to:

- Increase your organization's visibility within the VLSI and hardware systems community
- Engage directly with top researchers and graduate students
- Showcase products, tools, and technologies
- Recruit highly qualified talent

Similar to major systems conferences, sponsorship packages typically include demo opportunities, visibility throughout the event, and direct interaction with attendees.

Why Sponsor GLSVLSI?

- Targeted audience: Researchers and practitioners in VLSI, architecture, EDA, and hardware acceleration
- Recruitment pipeline: Access to top-tier PhD and MS students
- Technical visibility: Showcase cutting-edge tools, platforms, and solutions
- Networking opportunities: Build relationships with academic and industry leaders
